

Twitch Viewer Behavior Analysis

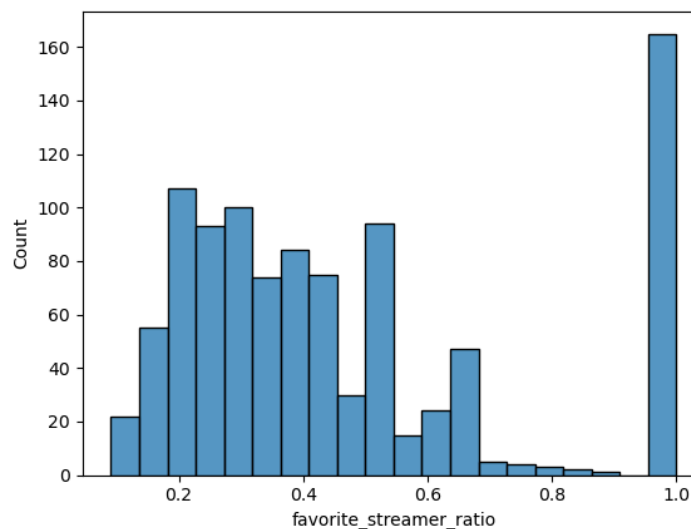

1. FPS and Just Chatting have the most loyal viewers

Viewer loyalty was measured as repeated visits to the same streaming category.

Just Chatting exhibited the highest category loyalty, with viewers returning an average of 7.1 times and has the highest upper ranges. FPS ranked the second with 5.8 sessions per viewer. These findings suggest that personality driven and community based content are the most popular and can encourage viewers to repeatedly return to that type of content.

2. Viewers balance exploration with loyalty

The median viewer watched 8 unique streamers, spending 38.6% of all sessions watching a single favorite streamer. While most viewers explore a relatively small number of streamers, a large portion of viewers only watch one favorite streamer.